A NEW BRIDGE

Fiscal Court Meets and call for bids to construct Bridge at Rosslyn.

The Fiscal Court was called in extra session Tuesday of this week to consider the changing of the river ford at Rosslyn or the fixing the present ford which has washed out so travel can no longer get over the river there. When the court convened every member of the court favored the construction of an iron bridge at that point. So an order was made to have same constructed at once, and calling for bids from the different bridge companies. The court will meet again Friday Feb. 15 and award contract for the building of the bridge if the bids or anyone of them prove acceptable to the court.

This is a wise step taken by the court, and one that will meet with the approval of nearly every citizen in the county. When any considerable money has to be spent on improving the river crossing, stop all further expenses by building iron bridges like in this case.

Will Purchase Grounds.

The Board of Directors of the Bluegrass Fair at Lexington, have elected the following officers for the ensuing year: J. L. Watkins, Lexington, President; J. W. Newman, Versailles, 1st. Vice President; Abram Renick, Winchester, 2nd. Vice President; Jonett Shouse, Lexington, Secretary.

The Association will endeavor to secure permanent grounds for the Fair. There is at Lexington the oldest and most historic race course in America, the famous Kentucky Association track owned by the estate of the late Samuel S. Brown. Under the rulings of the Pennsylvania courts, this track must be sold, and a committee from the Directors of the Bluegrass Fair Association, consisting of some of the best business men of Lexington were appointed to endeavor to secure it. The grounds are very valuable. The late Capt. Brown put into them in purchase money and in improvements very close to $200,000, but it is understood that the Secretary of the Blue Grass Fair Association has been able to make arrangements with his estate whereby that Association can purchase them at less than half the cost to Capt. Brown. They will form the basis of an ideal plant for the Blue Grass Fair, and, though requiring some additions for the purposes of a fair, with these additions they would probably offer the best plant in the South for that particular purpose.

The McCumber Pension Bill has been favorably reported to the House. The bill provides that all Mexican and Civil War veterans over 62 years old may have a pension of $12 per month; veterans over 70 years old may have $15 per month; veterans over 75 years of age are given $20 per month.

See notice of "farm of 206 acres for sale at a bargain," in this issue. This is desirable land and should meet with ready sale. This land is being sold to settle an estate and will be sold as advertised at a bargain.

The Kentucky Building.

Before the middle of February, it is expected that all logs and timber to be used in the construction of the Fort of Boonesboro, Kentucky's State Building at the Jamestown Exposition, will have been shipped. The building will be completed in ample time for the opening of the Exposition on April 26. Shipment will be made from various points in Kentucky over the C. & O. Railway, and nine or ten cars will be needed to transport the material.

Two carloads of logs will be shipped from Christian County and one or more cars each from Warren, McLean, Breathitt, Grayson, Wolfe, Pike, Johnson, and Powell counties. In addition to the logs, rough hand-made shingles or clapboards, for the cabin roofs and strips for the stockade will be sent from this State. Mr. Chas. E. Hoge, of Frankfort, is Director of State Building Construction, on the Kentucky Jamestown Exposition Commission. He has arranged with a contractor at Newport News who is familiar with the construction of rustic bungalows and similar buildings to erect the modern Fort of Boonesboro.

The Fort will be patterned after the original structure erected by Daniel Boone, within present bounds of Madison county. It will be 150 feet long and 75 feet wide, facing on the beach of Hampton Roads. The main entrance to the stockade will be but a few paces from the ocean waters. Four block houses or cabins will mark the four corners of the stockade, each of these cabins being two stories high. Two center cabins, connected by a piazza, and each twenty feet square, will furnish the main pavilion for the foot. Two other cabins will be located near the center of the rear stockade.

As has been previously reported, the site for Kentucky's Building is declared by Exposition officials and others to be the handsomest at the World's Fair. The building will be on the edge of a beautiful pine grove of 500 trees, some of the trees growing from within the stockade. A flagstaff 75 to 100 feet high will be raised in front of the main cabins.

In addition to furnishing the Blue Grass State with the most unique home on the Exposition grounds, the Fort of Boonesboro will be a splendid exhibit of Kentucky forestry. Col. M. H. Crump, of Bowling Green, Director of Forestry Exhibits for the Kentucky Commission, has devoted much time and attention to assisting Commissioner Hoge in securing the logs for the building. Appropriate inscriptions, will be made of the names of persons and firms furnishing the logs and of the counties in which the timber was grown.

Ice Pays Coal Bill.

Now that winter is here with its cold, most persons in the North look upon it as a season which they will be glad to see pass,—a season of expense for fuel, with few compensations.

One man whom I know, however, makes the cold a source of direct profit. He stores ice, and sells it during the hot weather, clearing all expenses and netting a neat sum which more than pays his coal bill.

An ice harvesting outfit need not cost much money, but the owner must be willing to work, and must know how. Ice may be stored successfully in old buildings, even though it has poor roofs.

All that is really essential is good drainage for the melted ice and free circulation of air above the ice stored, together with a jacket of some insulating material,—preferably sawdust, because it is cheap and easy to obtain and handle.

The ideal place for an ice house is in a densely-shaded spot on the north bank of a pond, near the water, so that the ice may be made to slide into place, by horse power, direct from the water, without carting. A rough board structure that is merely a tight lining to hold sawdust, will do. The ice should be packed upon twelve or fourteen inches of sawdust, and spaced six to eight inches from the walls on all sides. As the ice goes in, the sawdust must be trampled hard and kept level with it.

Twelve to fifteen-inches of sawdust must cover the ice at last and be always kept upon it; not not a greater depth than this. Frequently during mild and warm weather the sawdust must be rammed still around the side of the ice and trampled down.

A foolish person will ask more questions than a wise man can answer, and also he will answer more questions than a wise man will.

I WILL GIVE THIS BEAUTIFUL PICTURE
To one person at every postoffice. The first one who writes will get it. It is called "Fruits and Flowers." The rich fruits are so natural that you almost think you can eat them, and the flowers so perfect that you half expect to smell their sweet perfume. The picture is 20 inches long and 16 inches wide, just right for framing, and it will make a handsome addition to any home. You can write from your postoffice and get the picture, and if you do not live near a postoffice, you can write to me and I will send it to you. I am going to give away the picture and ask you to get one of your friends to do the same. I am going to send 10 cents for something that is worth 40 cents. I am a publisher, and I have adopted this plan of advertising my books and periodicals. And if you are the first to write and get the picture, you will be the one to profit by it. Remember, now, I do not expect you to send me any money; I shall not ask you to do any work for me, and the picture will go directly to you. I am going to send the picture to my neighbors and ask that neighbor to send me ONLY ONE TO EACH PERSON. And so on and so forth for the rest that you see. One you see will jump at the chance, I will trust you, absolutely to the first to write and get the picture. Don't let anyone else get it. If you write to me, I will tell you in which you saw my advertisement, and ask you to write to me again. "Fruits and Flowers." If you write AT ONCE, I will also send you another present worth 10c, which will prove very useful to you. B. R. RANKIN Publisher, Nashville, Tenn.
